You need easy access to educator resources, so we’ve reimagined the First Detector website to bring you an improved user experience. Over the next year, you’ll encounter more upgrades and enhancements including revised online First Detector certification courses and improved online registration for in-person workshops.

www.firstdetector.org

The First Detector training program equips professionals and volunteers nationwide to detect and report the presence of invasive plant pests and pathogens in order to protect U.S. plant resources.