You can help protect U.S. plant resources.
Complete training through in-person workshops or free online e-learning courses.

Access resources including online and printable pest identification guides and training videos.

Submit samples or an online report if you notice signs or symptoms of a plant pest or pathogen.

Protect our plants by supporting rapid detection and reporting of invasive pests and pathogens!

The First Detector program equips professionals and volunteers nationwide to detect and report the presence of invasive plant pests and pathogens in order to protect U.S. plant resources.